Melamed-Arditti
Innovation Award.

An architect of the modern world.

STEVE WOZNIAK

Co-founder, Apple

The CME Group Center for Innovation is pleased to present Steve Wozniak with the 2018 Melamed-Arditti Innovation award. The award honors an individual or group whose innovative ideas or services have created significant change in the world's markets, commerce and trade.

By designing Apple's first line of products – the Apple I and Apple II – Steve helped launch the personal computing industry and transform how the world works. In years since, he has dedicated himself to improving technology education – empowering students, professionals and countless others to continue the cycle of innovation.
